lower health care system costs, as fewer hospital visits equals less staff and administration costs, plus fewer risks of infection and complications.

"In Wisconsin, some 87 people receive a cancer diagnosis every day," according to Ann Marie Frakes, Executive Director of Leukemia & Lymphoma Society Wisconsin Chapter. "When we have expert cancer care in the state to assure that patients are prescribed the very best in effective, cutting edge medication to fight their disease, we must make sure that patients can access it financially as well. We want to thank Representative Jacque for working with colleagues to support this bi-partisan, common sense legislation to modernize health insurance and improve cancer care in Wisconsin."

Community Art Show

The Art Club of Denmark High School is hosting a Community Art Show from October 7-December 13, 2013 in Gallery 211. Gallery 211 is a conference room located in Denmark High School that has been used for the past two years as an art gallery for students. Each semester top works from students are on display for the school and community to enjoy.

For this special exhibit, local artists and community members are being invited to share their talent with the school. "We believe this will provide students with the opportunity to understand and appreciate the art happening in our own community as well as create connections between the community and our school," says high school Art instructor, Candice Boutelle. Students in art courses will use the skills they are learning in class to examine the work and choose a "Best of Show" piece.

The Show will open with a reception on Monday, October 7 from 5:00-7:00pm in Gallery 211. Anyone from the community is welcome and encouraged to view the exhibit.

Any artist living in or near the Denmark area is welcome to submit work to the show. The entry fee of $10 will support the Denmark Art Club by helping to fund activities and field trips. Participants can drop off up to 3 works, framed and ready to hang along with the entry form at the High School office Monday September 30 through Thursday October 3, 7:30am-4:00 pm.

Any questions can be directed to Candice Boutelle, 920-863-4271 or Beverly Stearney, Community Chairperson, 920-863-8920. Please leave a message if there is no answer. Entry forms can be found at The Mill Art Center, BMO Harris Bank, Denmark State Bank, Main Street Market, Lickety Splits, and each of the schools in the district as well as the public library.

Questions about the Affordable Care Act

By Steph Larsen,

 Center for Rural Affairs

With another provision of the Affordable Care Act being implemented - new healthcare marketplaces, or "exchanges" are set to come online October 1st - we've been hearing many questions. For example:

Are families who can't afford the employer provided health insurance eligible for subsidies through the new health insurance marketplace?

If your employer offers a health insurance plan, first look at what it covers. It must be a comprehensive plan that meets the essential benefit package.

If it's a comprehensive plan, look at what you're required to pay. If the annual premium is more than 9.5% of what you report on tax forms as your income, the plan is considered "unaffordable." If you are between 100-400% of the federal poverty level, you'll be eligible for a premium subsidy if you buy a plan on your state's health insurance marketplace. Anyone can purchase insurance in the marketplace, but not everyone will qualify for a subsidy.

I got a check from my insurance company recently. Why?

Another way the Affordable Care Act seeks to lower costs is by making sure insurers aren't padding their pockets or using a majority of your premium dollars for things that aren't medical care. At least 80% of your premium dollar goes to actual medical care. It may not be your medical care, but that's the nature of insurance. If the insurer charges too much and doesn't meet this threshold, they are required to give every customer a rebate until they meet the rule.
